HONGKONG, THURSDAY, OCT. 14, 1869. THE papers to hand by to-day's French contain several articles upon the Burlingame treaty," as it is conventionally called, the liberal press affecting made by the China papers and transmit-London journals. Now we are in a position to assert on most undoubted authority that Mr Burlingame's career in the United States and Europe has met with the decided condemnation both of those foreign officials who encouraged and fathered his mission and of the Tsung-li Yamen. We are not speaking at random or merely giving the the deductions which might very naturally be drawn from the recent course of action pursued by the Chinese. We are stating a simple fact when we declare that an expression of opinion such as we describe has been committed to writing by all parties concerned, so that no amount of telegraphic assurances on Mr Burlingame's part can any longer avail to deceive the better-informed in China. whatever it may succeed in doing in Europe. We are willing to admit, nay we believe, that Mr Burlingame is himself deceived as to the aspect of affairs out here but that does not affect the fact that he is misleading others, though it relieves him from the charge of doing so wilfully! have but but A letter addressed to the Pall Mall Gazette on the credentials handed to Mr Burlingame, however, confirms the opnion we yesterday expressed as to there having been two Chinese versions published. The writer, who appears to speak with authority (we fancy we recognize the pen as that of an official whose sympathy with Mr Burlingame is well known, and who enjoys a deservedly high reputation as a sinologue), says

The telegram concludes with a statemen to the effect that the English version of Mr Burlingame's oredentials does not our respond with the Chinese, and that he is commissioned as an envoy to tributary bas been my fate to learn Chinese, and I think I know the language pretty fairly, but I have failed to find in the Imperial edict constituting the mission a single phrase which, either in matter or form, could be construed into an attempt at placing the Chinese Empire in the position of a sovereign State in intercourse with its tributaries. The edict appointing Mr Burlingame and his colleagues was transinto English by Mr J. McLeavy Brown, one of our best English scholars of Chinese, who for a number of years, in his position of Chinese secretary to the British Legation at Peking, has passed through his hands all the official translations of communications between this country and China. His translation was sabmitted t three of the leading ainologues of the day and was signed and certified by them to be

We can only reiterate the wish we expressed to see the version from which the North China Daily News made its translation We are quite prepared to accept that made by Mr Brown as correct repriering of the text he translat ed, which is evidently that submitted to the correspondent who says the Pall Mall, " writes with the authority of special knowledge and experience."

The same correspondent alludes to Mr Ross Browne's utterances as " possessing no political significance." No doubt, in the sense that they do not commit the United States to his own opinions, this is true. But when it is found that he expresses the opinions not merely almost every British subject, American and other national in China, but those of the British and foreign Ministers at Peking, of every journal in China and Hongkong, and of our Naval and Military Authorities, it may be discovered that they possess a "political significance" which will be eminently disquisting to the Pall Mall's correspondent and those who affect to think with him-for half the liberal press at home, it is wall known, use the China question as a more matter of party warfare. Fortunately those in China, much as they regret that papers of such standing as the Pall Moll Gasette and Spectator should be practised upon by men who blindly or designedly misrepresent the whole course of affairs out here, can afford to smile at the disparaging language employed, confi-BAROMETER 9 A.M., 30.008 dent that very few months will see

An especial value of essays read before learned societies is that they make public, in a concise and lucid shape, information which would otherwise never reach a large portion of the public. A paper by Mr W. F. Mayers, published in Vol. 1V. of the transactions of the Royal Asiatic Society of London for 1869, is of this class, and is interesting as well as instructive. Mr Mayers takes his readers to the most reliable of all sources for information, about this remarkable hierarchy—to the official reports of Chinese officials connected with the Thibetan goverument, and official records of circumstances affecting it. By a series of translations from the former, he illustrates the entire process of selecting, installing, and educating the sovereign pontiff who sways Abel, matejot the place of execution, of dollars or scissors.

The country was at thistime dominated by an hereditary priesthood, whose power it was Tsung kaba's remarkable destiny to overthrow, and whose doctrines he saw placed, during his life time, by those which he preached as L'Imparcial says, that M. Martos has more consistent with the teachings of Buddia. The whole cere onial appears to tion to the inefficacy of capital punishment have been greatly modified at his hands in political matters. Having succeeded-with the countenauce, it is shrewdly suspected, of the Chinese Government-in bringing about a general acceptance of the reformed faith, Tsungkaba died towards the end of the fifteenth century, bequeathing his influence to his two principal sectaries, whom he enjoined "that they should be born again, genera-

The two disciples named Dalai Lama and Panshen This purely religious hierarchy? continued up to 1746-a lay ruler, owing fealty to the Emperor of China, still exercising temporal away. But the opportunity was then taken of asseguinary revolt against Chinese domination, to suppress the native sovereign altogether, and "to place the entire power in the hands of the Dalai Lama, assisted by four ministers, to be chosen by himslf, under the supreme control of two Chinese Commissioners, who became in reality, the Regents of Thibet." A better system of discovering the re-embodiment, on the death of either of Taung-kaba's successors, was at the same time arranged; and it is in illustration of this system that Mr Mayers translates a series of memorials describing the detection and enthronement of the sacred infant who succeeded to the Dalai Lamaship under the reign of Tao-

It is manifest that the gambling fraternity in Europe are disposed to take time by the forelook and to secure in America a wider field for their operations than is offered by the German watering places, where their special privileges may possibly, but not probably, expire in 1870. But what is peculiarly Frenchy. about M. Bolineau's project is the implied idea that the personal government which exists under the shadow of the Arch of Triumph at Paris and throughout France is possessed by the President of the United States, who, he supposes, can authorize such additions to the already acknowledged attractions of New York as a summer resort as to afford subjects for a new picture like the "Tapis Vert," which Gustave Doré painted and which he not long since unwisely destroyed Bolineau will not easily understand that neither President Grant, nor the Hon. Some time ago we had occasion to remark upon the progress that Literature as georgsented by the Press had made and total concerned the Harbour Master shall have a making in the East, and our attention has again been called to the subject by the reueipt of a Honglong publication Which deserves some notice and which we have much pleasure in introducing to the k ledge of our readers. We allude to Notes and Queries on thina and Japan, published mouthly by Mr Saint, the proprietor of the China Mail newspaper. This publication printed on good paper, and in size and shape is very like its well-known namesake or prototype at home, and is equally a mine containing very curious and useful information regarding the language, literature, history, manners and oustoms of the Chinese and in a less degree of the Japanese. It says a good deal for the extent and stability of the footing of Europeans, in China, that such a publication as this

This really useful volume ["Treaty Ports China and Japan "] is intended as a guide for travellers and residents in China and Japan, and as a book of reference for mercantile men generally. It contains an account, historical and political, of all the open ports of these countries, together with Peking, Yedo, Rongkong, and Macao. It has been carefully compiled and edited by Mr N. B. Dennys; and the elaborate maps and plans, with which the work abounds. considerably enhance its value.

We have thus given in outline some of the more prominent portions of the chapter devoted to Canton, as a specimen of the whole volume, Other chapters treating of Macao, Formosa, Ningpo, Shanghae, and the remainder of the treaty ports, we can only enumerate. The pages describing Peking, the capital, are so interesting, and contain so much that is new to European
